The Truman women's basketball team was one of 16 teams to earn a bid to the first-ever NCAA Tournament in 1982. The Bulldogs entered play with a 17-8 record and fresh off a first-place finish in the MIAW Tournament.

The Bulldogs hosted Chapman (Calif.) for the South Central regional title. The game started out good, as Truman held the Panthers to just 18 first-half points as the home team grabbed a 2-18 lead.

The second-half was back-and-forth. Truman led 46-41 late, but Chapman went on an 8-0 run in the final two minutes for the victory. The Panthers took the lead for good with 28 seconds left in the game on a shot in the lane, and then iced the contest with two free throws with nine seconds remaining.

Angie Griffin led the Bulldogs in the game with 18 points, 11 rebounds and five assists. She was a perfect free throws with nine seconds remaining.

Truman would go on and also compete in the AIAW Tournament that year. The Bulldogs dropped a 110-93 decision to Northern Iowa in the first-round to end Truman's season. Eagan once again led the team, scoring 23 points, one more than teammate Kelli Kreuser, who added 22 points.

The two-seed, Missouri Western, was next for Truman. Despite losing to the Griffons twice earlier in the year, the Bulldogs led this one for nearly the entire game. Wendi Sobaski was the leading Bulldog scorer with 18 points, including four three-pointers in the first-half, as the Bulldogs won, 78-68.

Truman's run ended in the regional finals against Emporia State and number one seed, Emporia State. The Hornets led by eight at halftime and had a double-digit lead for most of the second-half in a 110-93 win that ended Truman's season. Eagan once again led the team, scoring 23 points, one more than teammate Kelli Kreuser and two more than Sobaski's 21.

Truman ended the year with a 22-7 record. The 22 wins and .710 winning percentage are still the best marks in school history.

It took 17 years for the Bulldogs to return to the NCAA Tournament. In 1999, Truman was the final squad to get into the six-team regional field. That didn’t stop the Bulldogs from making a run to the final regional tournament.

Truman, the sixth-seed, started the tournament with a 94-79 victory over third-seed Abilene Christian. The Bulldogs opened up a 17-point lead by halftime and led by double-digits the rest of the way. Five Bulldogs scored in double-figures, led by all-American Amy Eagan with 25 points.

The two-seed, Missouri Western, was next for Truman. Despite losing to the Griffons twice earlier in the year, the Bulldogs led this one for nearly the entire game. Wendi Sobaski was the leading Bulldog scorer with 18 points, including four three-pointers in the first-half, as the Bulldogs won, 78-68.

Truman’s run ended in the regional finals against the host school and number one seed, Emporia State. The Hornets led by eight at halftime and had a double-digit lead for most of the second-half in a 110-93 win that ended Truman’s season. Eagan once again led the team, scoring 23 points, one more than teammate Kelli Kreuser and two more than Sobaski’s 21.
