A new coaching staff, a young roster and one of the toughest schedules in school history proved to be too much for the 2004 Bulldog football team to overcome.

Truman finished the year with a 2-9 overall record and came in eighth in the MIAA standings with a 2-7 mark.

On the bright side, the team made noticeable improvements each week and ended the year on a high note. Over the final three weeks of the season, Truman showed the high level of play that will be expected from future Bulldog squads.

Truman opened the year with two non-conference games, both coming against teams that would be nationally ranked in the top-10 near the end of the season.

The two contests, at home against South Dakota and on the road against Winona State, followed a familiar script.

The Bulldogs played the games close early on, trailing by just a touchdown at halftime in each game. The team lost steam though in the third and fourth quarters, and Truman wound up on the wrong side of two final margins.

First-year head coach Shannon Currier got a slow first-half cost the team the next week against Missouri Western and then Truman took a step backward with another shutout loss, this one at the hands of Central Missouri.

In week nine, nearly everyone expected the third-ranked team in the country, Northwest Missouri, to easily roll over Truman. The Bulldogs had other ideas, however, and people wearing green were shocked after a 50-yard touchdown reception by Justin Bodenhausen gave Truman a 42-38 lead with just over three minutes remaining in the game.

The downside of the long score was that it gave the Bearcats too much time to answer. Northwest Missouri marched down the field and a fourth-down run from the one gave the Bearcats the win.

Truman used the momentum from that near upset to end the year with two straight wins.

The Bulldogs threw six touchdown passes as they built a 47-20 lead against Missouri-Rolla and eventually Truman won by 14 points.

In the season finale, the team pitched its first shutout since 1991 when the defense blanked Southwest Baptist.

The defense was led in 2005 by Czeschin, who had a record-breaking season (see below). He became just the fifth MIAA player to pass for over 3,000 yards and he threw 21 touchdowns.

Over the final three games, he threw for 1,300 yards and 12 touchdowns. He twice earned conference and national player of the week honors in that span.

Czeschin’s favorite receiver was Jeff Amundson, who caught 76 passes for 824 yards. Amundson set a school record during the year with 18 receptions versus Missouri Southern.

James Walton was the team’s big play receiver, catching 53 balls for 760 yards and he had a team-high six touchdowns.

One of the biggest reasons for the team’s success late in the year was the return of Bodenhausen from an injury. In just the final three games of the year, he caught 20 passes for 254 yards and four touchdowns.

In running the ball, true freshman Michael Patnode led the team. He averaged 66.2 yards a game on the ground and over 30 more through the air. Leverson was used mostly in short yard situations, scoring five times on the year.

Defensively, Ben Wilson led the team with 98 tackles, seven tackles for losses, five sacks and three pass breakups.

Marcus Yokeley had the most interceptions by a Bulldog in 10 years with six picks for the season. He ended the year with 65 tackles.

Other leading tacklers included Mike Mowen with 86 stops and Jason Douglas with 71 tackles.

Mark Kampthoefer did the kicking duties during the year for Truman. He led the team with 43 points, with seven field goals and 22 extra points.

Douglas and Amundson were the top return specialist on special teams for the Bulldogs.

South Dakota went into halftime with the momentum and used that for a big second half in a 49-22 win over Truman.

With the score tied at 14, Truman was forced to punt the ball late in the first half. The Coyotes’ Chris Mikkelsen took the punt at the South Dakota 30 and looked like he was going to break it for a touchdown. However, Truman’s Josh Mayson caught up with him at the two-yard line and forced a punt. The bounce went South Dakota’s way though as Ricardo Sorrell fell on it in the endzone for a touchdown.

The rest of the game was all Coyotes as they scored four straight touchdowns in the final half to seal the victory. South Dakota took advantage of a banged-up defensive line, rushing for 311 yards in the game. Travis Mlday had most of the yards, collecting 158 on the ground.

The Coyotes were able to break some big plays through the air. Derek Gearman caught second-half scores for touchdown receptions of 35 and 88 yards. Beschorner also threw the ball 17 times in the game but completed 11 for 198 yards and three touchdowns.

Truman gained 345 total yards in the game, with 286 of that coming in the passing game. The team had some bright spots offensively. Jeff Amundson led the receivers with six catches for 68 yards. Quarterback Jack Czeschin threw for 272 yards and one touchdown, on a two-yard pass to tight end A.J. Weber.

The other Bulldog scores came on a one-yard run by Jerard Levenson and a two-yard run by Jonathan Duffy.

Defensively, linebacker Ben Wilson was everywhere, collecting 10 solo tackles and seven assisted tackles. He had three tackles for losses, including one sack. Marcus Youkeley had the only Bulldog turnover, intercepting a pass early on.

Truman turned the ball over three more times than Winona State and was outscored 28-0 on points off turnovers. Those numbers were the main factors in a 56-28 Bulldog loss.

Truman's day started off bad as it fumbled the opening kickoff, which resulted in a nine-yard Warriors' score on its first play. On the next drive, Winona State's Luke Lokanc intercepted a pass and ran it back 99 yards for a 14-0 lead.

Truman responded with a pair of scores to pull even at 14-14. First the Bulldogs scored on a 15-yard pass from Jake Wrobel to Chris Samp. After another Truman turnover, Wrobel found Scott Peters in the back of the endzone on a 14-yard strike with 24 seconds left.

Winona State put the game away with three touchdowns.

Pittsburg State, the eventual NCAA runner-up, played nearly perfect football on the offensive side of the ball in the first-half which led to a 7-7 rout over Truman.

The Gorillas jumped out to a 56-7 lead by halftime after three Truman turnovers. As a result, Pittsburg State put the game away with three touchdowns.

Pittsburg State-Majors 17 carries for 57 yards, while Czeschin was 32-of-48 passing for 293 yards. Three different Bulldogs caught six passes, led by James Walton who collected 79 receiving yards.

Austin Hills led the defense with nine tackles. Marcus Yokeley forced a fumble and Josh Kilcrease recovered it for Truman's lone forced turnover.

The Warriors' defense did have some success moving the ball in the first-half. Truman gained 130 yards rushing and 159 yards passing.

Washburn took the opening drive of the game, going 81 yards in nine plays for a touchdown, and never looked back as they defeated Truman by a score of 62-0. Ichabods quarterback Tyler Schuerman rushed for two touchdowns and threw for four more scores.

Washburn's biggest output was in the second quarter as they scored two touchdowns within eight seconds late in the half. After Cason Lehman scored on a 14-yard run, the Ichabods lined up and continued to the 10, then the ball was fumbled but not covered as it resulted in a kickoff returning at the Truman 12-yard line. One play later, Sam Sisson caught a 12-yard pass from Schuerman for the 48.0 halftime lead.

Schuerman had two touchdowns with six of the seven Washburn touchdowns. Mike Odupitan 20 for 44 yards and rushing for a team high 24 yards.

Jonathan Duffy started his first game for Truman going six-of-ten for 197 yards and two touchdowns and no interceptions.

Truman only had six first downs the entire game to Emporia State having nearly 200 yards more of total offense.

Bulldogs forced three fumbles and four interceptions. That was a huge reason why they could only score 62 points.

Emporia State-None.

Emporia State outscored Truman by a 240-0 margin in the final quarter of a comeback from behind 58-21 victory. The two teams went into half tied at 14, thanks to sloppy play by the Hornets. Emporia State had four turnovers and missed two short field goal attempts in the first 30 minutes.

The first turnover led to Truman cracking the scoreboard. Down 7-0, the Bulldogs forced a fumble on a punt return, giving them the ball at the Emporia 17-yard line. Four plays later, Ryan Bonner hauled in a 7-yard touchdown pass.

Truman's other touchdown in the first half came off another Hornet fumble. On the first play after the fumble, Michael Pattone broke off a 55-yard touchdown run.

Both of Emporia's touchdowns in the half came on short drives. Tad Hatfield had touchdown passes on both with one going to Matt Martin and one to Joe Richard.

The Bulldogs grabbed the lead for the first time when James Walton caught a 12-yard pass in the third. The score stayed in their favor for the rest of the quarter. However, Truman's defense was on the field for much of the game up to that point, which ended up catching up with them.

Emporia State tied the game with 11:50 remaining on a 12-yard run by Jake Richter and then took the lead a short while later on another Richard touchdown reception. The Hornets would add a field goal and another touchdown late.

Truman had a 5 turnover margin in the game, as the Bulldogs forced three fumbles and four interceptions. That helped them keep the game close until the very end despite Emporia State having nearly 200 yards more of total offense.

Marcus Yokeley led the Bulldogs' defense with eight tackles, two for losses, one fumble recovery and two interceptions. Offensively, Patnode ended with 120 yards on 20 carries. Walton let the receivers with four catches for 56 yards. Jake Czeschin returned from his injury and threw for 197 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions.

Emporia State's Tad Hatfield threw for 350 yards and three touchdowns. Richard had 116 yards on 10 catches to go along with his pair of touchdowns. Jake Richter fell two yards shy of hitting the century mark rushing.

Missouri Southern (4-2, 3-1) 7 9 7 7 30

Score by Quarters 1 2 3 4 Final

Missouri Southern at 23-20, and a Lion turnover gave Truman the ball on the Missouri Southern 24-yard line with less than four minutes remaining. Truman appeared to score the go-ahead score on the play when Jeff Amundson caught an 11-yard touchdown pass, only to see the play not count because of an ineligible player downfield penalty.

The Bulldogs kept driving down to the one-yard line where they had a third-and-goal play. Truman's Jerard Leveron took the handoff and tried to stretch the ball across the goal line, but the Lions' Adrian Williams popped the ball loose and it went right to teammate Robert Spinks, who took the ball 100 yards for a fumble recovery touchdown.

The big difference in the game came in the red zone. Missouri Southern went into the red zone four times and scored three touchdowns out of it. Truman was in the red zone six times in the game, but scored just two touchdowns and two field goals.

The game featured a record breaking day for Truman's attack which set a new team record of 41 completions. Jack Czeschin was 41-of-60 in the game with a career-high 374 yards.

Most of his passes were in the direction of Jeff Amundson, who broke a Truman single-game record with 18 catches. He ended the contest with 175 receptions yards.

Missouri Southern had a balanced offensive attack as Westerberg lasted 103 yards and Nathan Emert passed for 217. Emert had two touchdown passes, including a 36-yard pass from Kyle Westerberg to his favorite receiver, Mathes, who ended the game with 103 yards receiving.
Central Missouri (5-3, 3-3) 12 6 14 14 46
Truman (0-8, 0-6) 0 0 0 0 0

Score by Quarters 1 2 3 4 Final

Truman's offense moved the ball early in the contest, matching inside the Central Missouri 30-yard line in the first two drives of the game. However, with a strong wind against them, the Bulldogs had to go for it on fourth-down on both drives and the efforts failed. After that, the offense couldn't get anything going for the rest of the game. The Bulldog defense, meanwhile, fell back into their early season pattern of allowing the opposition to have a big game on the ground. Central Missouri had a pair of 100-yard rushers and collected five rushing touchdowns. Kegan Coleman ended the game with 172 yards rushing while teammate Lee Thompson added 135 yards.

Even Truman's special teams had an off-day, including giving up a safety when a bad snap on a punt attempt went through the end zone.

Central Missouri scored four different ways as the Mules opened up a 180 halftime lead. They got the scoring started on a 26-yard field goal in the first quarter and then went up 10-0 when Jimmy Sangster found Belanie Walker for a 66-yard touchdown reception. The team also scored the safety in the second quarter when Coleman took it in from 24 yards out.

The Mules completed the game with four rushing touchdowns in the second-half, including three by Thompson.

Individually, Michael Patrick was one of the few bright spots for the Truman offense. The tailback rushed for 90 yards and was also the leading receiver with 10 catches for 57 yards. Mike Mowen led the defense with a career-high 13 tackles, including one for a loss, and he also forced a fumble.

Nationally-ranked Northwest Missouri needed a goal line plunge to prevent one of the biggest upsets of all time and keep the Bulldogs winless for the season. Truman lost the last Old Hickory Stick battle by a 45-32 score.

The Bulldogs took the lead for the first time when Jake Czeschin completed a 50-yard touchdown pass to Justin Bodenhausen with three minutes left in the game. The Bearcats, though, put together an eight-play, 70-yard drive to win the game. On four-and-goal, Xavier Omon rushed the ball in from 1 yard out to complete the drive.

Truman's Jake Czeschin broke the NCAA single-game passing record with 479 yards. Czeschin had 55 completions and four touchdowns, three coming in the second-half. Jeff Amundson led all receivers with 11 catches and 128 yards. James Walton also went over 100 yards receiving and Bodenhausen finished with 99 yards.

The Bearcats scored twice in the first quarter with Omon picking up a 52-yard touchdown run, followed by Morris White’s 16-yard pass reception from Josh Mathews. Truman got back in the second quarter on a one-yard run from Jerard Leveson.

The two teams both scored one other touchdown in the second and third quarters, with ten seconds left in the half, Bearcats’ Luis Berlanga made a 27-yard field goal that hit the left upright and bounced through for a 10-point halftime lead.

Northwest Missouri continued to trade touchdown scores until late in the game. The Bulldogs scored 14 points in a 5:39 span, including Bodenhausen’s score which gave Truman the lead.

The Bearcats started their final drive at their own 30-yard line. Mathews completed four passes, including a 35-yard pass to Andre Rector that took the ball down to the Truman five. Four straight Omon rushes then finished the drive.

Omon rushed for 169 yards in all, while Mathews was 22-of-31 for 252 yards. Jamaica Rector had three punt returns for 88 yards and two kick returns for 59 yards to give Northwest Missouri good field position throughout the day.

Truman ended the 2004 season on a high note, recording its first shutout since 2001. On Senior Day at Stokes Stadium, the Bulldogs blanked Southwest Baptist by a 26-0 margin. The Bulldogs' defense allowed just 175 total yards, including 126 passing yards and 49 rushing yards. The game was scoreless through three quarters, with the Bulldogs leading 7-0. In the final quarter, Truman scored 14 points on two touchdowns and a field goal. The Bulldogs' defense held Southwest Baptist to just seven first downs and 175 total yards. Truman's defense had a dominant performance, holding the Bearcats to just 71 net yards on 29 plays. Truman's offense controlled the game, with 382 total yards and 26 first downs. Truman's passing game wasn't the only bright spot on offense. Michael Patnode rushed for 167 yards and scored the team's other touchdown. Defensively, the team allowed a lot of yards, as Missouri-Rolla had 552 yards of total offense, including 449 through the air. However, the Bulldogs' defense made some plays when they counted the most, intercepting Missouri-Rolla three times and also forcing a turnover on downs.
